Do the Redwood Forest right!

Fortuna is the IDEAL place to make your base camp for many reasons! First, it's the center of everything along the Pacific Coast Highway where redwood forests stretch for miles and it's all within reach of "The Friendly City". If it is Scenery you are after, then take a drive along the Avenue of the Giants and walk among the Oldest and Largest trees in the world.

If your schedule allows....

The Pacific Regional Daffodil Spectacular will be held March 24 and March 25, 2007 at Fortuna's River Lodge and admission is free. If your interest runs to the old and collectible, Fortuna has several wonderful Antique shops in the historic downtown area. Just a short drive east you can explore miles and miles of pristine and wildly beautiful Northern California Coastline. Fortuna also boasts an award winning Micro-Brewery and Restaurant within walking distance of the Hotels.

Rural atmosphere with all the conveniences.....

There is a surprising variety of cultural activities available in close proximity to Fortuna such as live theatre, music, comedy and the arts. The 12,000 square foot River Lodge Conference Center on Riverwalk Drive overlooks the scenic Eel River and is within walking distance to several hotels and restaurants. This beautiful center seats up to 600 and is designed to accommodate large or small events and also has a gift shop that features the work of local area artisans.
